More Ways to Access C-SPAN Programs

Watch LIVE in Your Classrooms:

See events as they happen—on cable television or online at c-span.org.

Make Your Own Copy:

Educators can make videotape or digital copies of C-SPAN programming for use in their classrooms.

Tap Into the C-SPAN Archives:

View past programs and series online at c-span.org, and search for material by key words. Or through the C-SPAN Archives, you can purchase a DVD or videotape of any C-SPAN program. Call 877-ON-C-SPAN or shop online at www.c-span.org/shop.

Liberal Copyright Policy: Our liberal copyright policy allows educators to record and keep, in perpetuity, any C-SPAN-produced programming for classroom use.

Other opportunities for educators:

Members learn about opportunities for teacher fellowships and grants; C-SPAN School Bus visits; our annual student video competition, StudentCam; and more.

Topics for standards-based video and classroom resources include:

Principles of Government

U.S. Constitution

Executive Branch

Legislative Branch

Judicial Branch

Political Participation

In addition to video clips online, you'll find discussion questions and student worksheets.

It's Free.

ABOUT C-SPAN

Bring your students into the world of politics, history, and public affairs.

The C-SPAN networks are the cable industry's public service to the nation. With access to live, gavel-to-gavel coverage of the House and Senate on the C-SPAN networks, your students can track legislation as it passes through both bodies of Congress to get a complete picture of the legislative process.

Other current events programs, such as hearings and press conferences, along with Book TV and history programs, provide additional background for your social studies lessons.
